DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Three sections compose this two-story frame farmhouse. Two parts are roofed by east-west gable roofs. The third section extends to the south under a north-south gable roof. A brick chimney heats the center of the house.

The east section measures one bay square. A four-panel door occupies the south bay. Two over two windows light this part. The west section measures two bays long by one bay deep. A batten door occupies the second bay on the south side. The two-bay-long south section includes an entrance in the first bay of the east side. Six over six windows light the latter two sections. A six over three window appears in the second floor of the south gable end.

German siding covers the house.
